

Corporate Communication Workshops

mlh global hr consulting improving business through people

In screen dominated work environments, Word templates, Excel spreadsheets and technical jargon work like pickpockets, stealing our vocabularies, creativity and confidence. Nuance goes unrecognised and instructions are misunderstood because employees are not confident enough to extrapolate from them or, indeed, to ask for a more detailed explanation. This is exacerbated when working in a multi-cultural, multi-language and multi-location environment.

mlh global consulting has joined with The Words People to develop solutions to business problems arising out of limited language, presentation or communication skills. Drawing on decades of media experience (The Words People) and in-depth knowledge about what makes organisations and people tick (mlh global hr consulting), we have devised a unique programme to inspire self-expression, social interaction, creative thinking and confident presentation.

In our fast paced economy where bold presentation and original thinking are vital tools in defining a company's products, this can mean the difference between success and failure.

Based on our unique combination of knowledge we've put together a framework of exercises that help you listen, build rapport, be heard, bond and excel at what you do. Socially, enhanced language skills help you build effective working relationships, networks and respect.

Our Corporate Programme can be run as open sessions with people from across the organisation or as a team event for people who work as a project team or in the same department. We work with employers who want to encourage their employees to be more interactive, creative, productive and efficient.

Corporate workshops are fast-paced, objectives-focused, good fun and tailored to specific needs. Our focus is on helping your people think creatively and confidently about language, self-expression and presentation. Typically a one day event will cover the following:

- Narrative
- Self-expression
- Creative thinking
- Decision-making
- Projection and presentation
- Conflict Resolution

We also offer online support, top-up sessions and regular consultations on a retainer basis where appropriate.

Words used creatively help us shape, develop and pitch ideas. For the employer, the benefits show themselves in increased brand and team loyalty and enhanced customer confidence and satisfaction.

Contact us to find out how we can help you

2nd Floor, 145-157 St. John Street
London EV1V 4PY UK

+44 (0) 20 7788 7441

E-mail: solutions@mlhconsulting.co.uk
Web: www.mlhconsulting.co.uk

mlh global hr consulting limited

a global (US, UK, Europe, Asia) business focused Human Resources consulting company with expertise in added value HR including mergers & acquisitions, business transformation, organization design, executive coaching, global talent management, capability development, change leadership and HR function transformation.

Combining creativity and strong thinking with excellent facilitation, process leadership, hard work and delivery.